

Thank you to Kroger for making FoodRight's Youth Chef Academy virtual lessons possible! Cooking at home is KEY to engaging students and families in owning their health and wellness journey.

As a team, we were able to

- reach nearly 1,100 students and family members, a new milestone for FoodRight's virtual lessons
- give 332 students an ingredient kit or coupons, a 168% increase from last year
- increase the number of children who reported cooking at home to 67%, a 9% increase from last year

Parents' Response

"Jasper made us lentil tacos for dinner! He absolutely loved it, and has been more interested and involved with planning and cooking food since then... Thank you for supporting our kids and communities in such an important way!" -Alex, parent of 5th grader

"When you provided those meal kits, that just blew me away. It is so impactful for families to receive ingredients for a whole meal. Not everyone has access to healthy foods, and this didn't just give us a little taste test—we were able to feed our whole family a healthy home-cooked meal." -Martina, parent of 5th grader
